RE: Officer/Employee of the Year for 2003

I have selected you for the Boxborough Police Department's Officer/Employee of the Year for 2003. I base my selection for this award every year on a great many factors, including input from your fellow employees, workload, attitude toward the job, overall knowledge, and a willingness to go above and beyond what is expected or required of the position. Over the last year, I feel that you have, without doubt, excelled in each and every one of these areas, and by your actions, have exhibited a work ethic that is looked up to and admired by everyone on the Boxborough Police Department and the Boxborough Public Safety Dispatch. Each and every contribution you have made to this department would be too many to list here, however, I would specifically like to commend you on your efforts in the areas of investigations, patrol, and to representing this department in a professional and positive light. You seem to always have an upbeat attitude, a kind word and helping hand for all, and you have been a great role model, especially for the younger officers. In my opinion, you certainly understand and embrace the community policing concept and the importance of service to the citizens of this community, and you treat those that you come in contact with in the manner in which you yourself would want to be treated. Any Police Department can only be as good as the officers who represent it, and I can say without a doubt that you have made an important and significant contribution to the positive relationship that we have with the citizens of Boxborough. You have done an outstanding job as one of the department's veteran police officers and I want you to know that you are an extremely important asset to this police department.

I offer you my sincerest congratulations for earning the award of Officer/Employee of the year. Your name will be added to the plaque that is displayed in the hallway just inside the main entrance. This is an honor that you have earned, and for which you should be proud. Thank you for all of your hard work, and keep up the great job.
